"Hard-hitting, neck-breaking riffs and melancholy, memorable melodies": The songs of the Munich metal combo DELIRIUM'S DAWN are described in this way or something like that. Since 2006 the guys have been an insider tip in the local scene and offer their audience a varied stage show that takes everyone's socks off.

After countless appearances, the guys from DELIRIUM'S DAWN know how to heat people up, as they can look back on gigs with greats of the metal scene like Van Drunen or Obscura.

DELIRIUM'S DAWN are primarily characterized by their independent sound. There is no recipe for this, but influences from the areas of Thrash-, Death-, Melodic Death-Metal and Metalcore can be heard, so you won't be bored for a second.

This can be heard on their current album "Horizons". The fourth long player was recorded in spring 2020 and hit the shelves later that same year.

The website hardharderheavy.de praised hardharderheavy.de: "(...) this sound literally blows you out of your feet. This is followed by a double bass drum salvo after the other. On top of that there are excellently played riffs"

Metal.de said: "The two guitarists from DELIRIUM'S DAWN harmonize with each other and prove their joy in playing in countless riffs, such as in the song Surveillance"

DELIRIUM'S DAWN are convincing and show again and again from appearance to appearance that they won't run out of breath anytime soon.
